I wish to advise my support for this Multi-Operator Core Network Agreement.

Telstra has had a monopoly in regional Australia for far to long, limiting Regional Australians to a non-compete supplier.

Whilst I no longer live regionally and have in fact a Vodafone SIM, I do Travel. This limits a lot of my coverage regionally and when I do have coverage it is only 3G. With the decommissioning of the 3G spectrum looming, where does that leave me if this MOCN does not proceed. How can saying no to this improve competition, it doesn't, all it does is keep the same playing field giving consumers no option.
