MEMORANDUM

To Whom it may concern,

I wish to object to the stamp price increases.

Stamps were 45 cents how long ago – what has the percentage increases been?
What is this percentage increase?

The directors of this captive audience only recently gave them selves a pay increase so there can be no justification of an uneconomic or unviable business.

With technology and automation and increased concentrations of people the prices should be going down not up.

Not everyone has access to modern modes of communication and I see this price rise as discrimination against those most vulnerable.

No price increase.

Yours faithfully,

G. O'Connor
