Dear Sir/Madam

I am the publisher of the website Kangaroo Court of Australia and I would like to make some follow-up submissions.

As I said in my original submissions the legislation can and will become known as the "Murdoch Tax" as it is clearly designed to benefit Rupert Murdoch and News Corp and as other media have written the daft legislation is identical to the submissions that News Corp tendered.

The draft legislation, with the $150,00 revenue cut off only covers current media companies and not new media businesses or independent journalists. This means the new legislation is about protecting legacy media companies, who are contracting and sacking journalists at a rapid pace, and does not help facilitate the growth of new media to fill the void.

If the draft legislation is passed without any amendments it has failed the Australian public and is dud legislation that will ultimately achieve little but embarrass many.

Regards

Shane Dowling
